BERLIN, May 21.—German parachute units have captured strategically important points on the Greek island of Crete as a result of their sudden air-borne assault.

This claim was put forward today in an official German announcement which said the operations are proceeding "according to plan" and that fighting is continuing.

German bombers are supporting the invading forces, the announcement said.

Preceded By Bombing

Landings of the German air troops in Crete were preceded by what the German high command called a "terrific" Stuka dive-bombing bombardment.

The announcement said fighting began the moment German troops landed as the British obviously were prepared and had not been surprised by the attack.

Before sentence was imposed by Judge James M. Barrett, the pockmarked killer made a rumbling speech and requested the court to leave out "May God have mercy on your soul, because if there was a God he wouldn't let things go on like they have been."

"I intended to leave it out anyway," replied Judge Barrett, who was led into the courtroom by six armed deputy sheriffs and stood sullenly in front of the bench after a contemptuous spit at a police lieutenant.

The merit system already is in effect in certain bureaus of the welfare department, the state liquor control board, the department of public assistance and the unemployment compensation bureau in the department of labor and industry.

Unoccupied House Destroyed By Fire

A blaze, discovered by a neighbor who happened to awaken in the early morning hours and glance outside, today totally destroyed an unoccupied two-story frame home high up on Sheep Hill.

Poor water facilities hampered Shenango township volunteer firefighters who stayed at the scene from 1:30 a. m. until 5.

The home, vacated of all furniture and with no occupants, was owned by Ralph Staph, 938 Marshall avenue, the Shenango firemen said. They could not determine what caused the flames, seen first by the neighbor, the Shenango men said, shooting from the second floor section.

Legislative Committee Seeking To Reapportion Congressional Districts

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 21.—A conference committee of the house and senate will attempt to reapportion the state's congressional districts in line with a federal mandate reducing Pennsylvania's representation in the national house from 34 to 33 due to changes in population. Unless this is done all 33 congressmen will have to be elected at large next year.

The controversial question headed for a joint conference committee when the house reported out of committee the senate-approved Wade bill increasing the Luzerne county delegation by one and decreasing the Philadelphia and Allegheny county delegations by one congressman each. The Democrats amended the Wade measure, however, by inserting the Achteman bill, which combines the present three districts of Lehigh-Bucks, Berks and Montgomery counties into the two districts of Lehigh-Berks and Bucks-Montgomery.

May Adjourn Congress For July - August

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Despite menacing clouds of war, Democratic leaders in the Senate and House today considered a plan for adjournment of Congress during July and August.

The proposal, it is expected, will provoke another feud over Congress leaving the capital while the international situation is tense—a feud which kept Congress in session during the presidential campaign of last year.

Sen. Byrnes (D) S. C. it was learned, began "counting noses" in the Senate to learn whether he could muster enough votes for an outright adjournment during July and August.

Republican Leader McNary was understood to have told Republican colleagues that he is opposed to outright adjournment, but would favor taking a series of three-day recesses with the understanding that if the European war should develop any additional emergencies President Roosevelt would give members ample time to get back to the capital.

Congress must complete enactment of record-breaking appropriation bills by the time the new fiscal year opens in July 1. By that time also, the House is expected to have passed a $3,500,000,000 tax bill.

Southern Operators Charge Lewis Seeks To Become Dictator

NEW YORK, May 21.—Southern coal operators, locked in a wage-control battle with the C. I. O.'s United Mine Workers, today charged that John L. Lewis is seeking to become an American dictator through control of the nation's vital coal industry.

Replying to Lewis' threat to call out the 400,000 miners of the 12-state Appalachian area unless a new two-year contract is signed, the southern operators announced that they would not bow to "dictatorial" pressure.

"If he keeps his threat, this country, within 15 days, will be without coal," a statement issued by the southern operators, and published in New York newspapers throughout the country as an advertisement, declared.

LONDON, May 21.—British and German troops fought in violent hand-to-hand combat amid the rocky crags of Crete today as the Nazi high command in Greece threw ever increasing numbers of invaders into the Mediterranean island by air and sea.

While official quarters in London merely contented themselves with a statement that the situation is "in hand," a communiqué issued by the middle east high command in Cairo told of the operations up to last night and indicated that the battle—probably one of the greatest of the war—was a tough and go proposition.

Authoritative quarters in London declared the situation was "in hand." They estimated some 7,000 or more German forces already have landed in Crete, by parachute and aboard gliders and troop carrying transport planes.

PA NEW OBSERVES

According to announcement from Washington yesterday the confusion of the past few years about the date of Thanksgiving Day is to be eliminated in 1942. Last year due to state and national proclamations, Ohio observed Thanksgiving one week while Pennsylvania observed another. The traditional date will be observed in the future, beginning in 1942, by the entire country.

Fishermen report that the fishing season so far has been largely handicapped by low waters in the streams. It has been many years since such a low stage of the streams has been encountered so early in the year, they report.

There are a number of highway intersections in the districts just outside the city limits where high hedges cause considerable handicap for auto drivers. The hedges are so high that it is difficult for motorists to see cars approaching from other directions.

Home gardening work is in progress at many properties around the city and adjacent areas, there apparently being an increase in the number of gardens being started. This is a good move. Every resident that can develop a garden this season should do so.

Will Study Operation Of Draft Law

Some Changes To Be Considered

Narrowing Age Limits And Uniform Deferment Policy Are Likely

SENATE COMMITTEE TO STUDY SITUATION

By ROBERT A. MCGILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 21—Sen. Reynolds (D) N.C., newly appointed chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, said today that the committee will soon begin a study of the operation of the Selective Service Act with a view to narrowing the age limits, and establishing a uniform deferment policy.

At the same time, the committee will take up a resolution by Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., which would establish a special senate committee to investigate the operation, and the progress of the draft act.

Vandenberg's resolution instructs the special committee to report to congress within 60 days after it begins investigations to make recommendations for the basis of amendments to the act.

Thousands Of Complaints
"Thousands of complaints of a wide variety have reached congress concerning the act," Vandenberg said. He added that the special committee should pay particular attention to a uniform deferment policy applicable to the thousands of draft boards throughout the country.

Reynolds said the military affairs committee will give ample consideration to the strong sentiment in congress and the war department to change the present draft age limits of 21 to 36. In most cases it has been recommended that they be changed to 18 to 28.

Sen. Johnson (D) Colo., a member of the committee, said he will support an 18 to 30 limit if formally recommended to the committee by the war department, but that he personally favors 18 to 28.

Some Changes Seen
Sen. Gurney (R) S. D., also a member of the military affairs committee, said he is opposed to any change in the age limits of the draft act until it has been in effect at least a year, or until at least 900,000 draftees, its quota, are inducted into training.

He said that when the committee begins its general study of the draft act he will recommend substitution of the draft program with a year's compulsory military training upon graduation from high school, or not later than the age of 19.

The benefits of a year's training upon graduation from high school "would far outweigh those under the present system," Gurney said. Gurney proposed that if his program for a year's training upon graduation from high school should be adopted, the CCC and National Youth program "should be abolished."

of the house committee on congressional apportionment, who failed to appear for a committee meeting he had summoned to consider the senate measure. The majority members of the committee thereupon met without him and reported out the amended bill.

Republican Leader Robert E. Woodside Jr., of Dauphin, charged the committee's action was illegal, but he was overruled by House Speaker Elmer Kilroy. Meanwhile, angered by O'Connor's absence, House Majority Leader Leo A. Achtermann had the house order his arrest for being absent without its permission.

When a sergeant-at-arms reported that O'Connor had been found in his hotel room sick, Achtermann asked that the proceedings be expunged from the record. Another committee meeting was then held and the Wade bill, amended the same as before, again reported out, this time without Republican opposition.

BERLIN CLAIMS 'CHUTE TROOPS' MAKING GAINS

The parachutists had been defeated, German military officials said the operations had advanced successfully to an important stage.

A special military bulletin stated: "In the morning hours of May 20 after a heavy Stuka bombardment, strong parachute units landed in Crete in a daring attack. "Partly after hard fighting a number of tactically and strategically important points were taken. The fighting is continuing, supported by bombers."

Claim Regulation Uniforms
It was announced officially that the Germans are wearing regulation German army uniforms issued for service in Africa.

This statement added that if any German parachutist is mislabeled as a result of Churchill's allegations that the parachutists were disguised as New Zealand soldiers, the "German military will retaliate ten to one."

EDITOR'S NOTE: London authorities said today that authority to deal with allegedly disguised German forces in Greece has been left in the hands of Major Gen. B. C. Freyburg, commander in charge of the Anglo-Greek defenders of Crete.

These quarters said that illegally uniformed German soldiers would not be "shot out of hand," but would each be granted a proper trial by court martial.

The vagueness of the first Berlin communiqué on the invasion of Crete was reminiscent of the now familiar German method of couching preliminary announcements of new military operations in generalities, thus paving the way for a later surprise announcement of a fait accompli.

If this is true in the case of Crete, it would indicate that military disaster for the British there is already much further advanced than London has admitted.

COSTLY JOY RIDE
(International News Service)
BUCYRUS, Kan.—It cost the Missouri Pacific Railroad a pretty penny when a load of steel on one of the freight trains smashed through the side of a gondola car and sheared off signal equipment along 17 miles of right of way. A shift in the load caused the steel plates to project through the car. The train—a veritable scythe—sped merrily on and harvested a $7,000 crop in sign posts, signal standards and other equipment before a frantic dispatcher was able to flag it down.

Some of the tent caterpillar nests are to be seen inside the city limits, in some sections. Property owners should see that these are immediately eradicated, or the foliage of the trees will be despoiled. Tent caterpillars completely denude some trees, when they get out of the nests.

Travelling around the local farm area one cannot but be impressed with the large extent of the chicken raising industry. Statistics from the state show that Pennsylvania is one of the leading states in this farm industry. Last year reports show about 25,502,000 chickens were raised in the state and estimates are that 2,042,000,000 eggs were gathered from hens nests in the state.

TO THE CAR-BUYING PUBLIC
These are statements intended to appeal to sane, reasonable-minded thinking people.
This sale of unused transportation in cars, that also appeal to the eye and can be owned with pride, are not the kind of cars you read about, such as—"come in and make us an offer," or "cars that are advertised—must be sold," or—"no reasonable offer refused". These cars are definitely not such cars, they are from New Castle owners whose names are on the cars.
This special car sale is a sale to move good cars at less than competitive prices, offered elsewhere for equal kind of merchandise. You, Mr. and Mrs. Buying Public can buy at this special sale for a price that cannot be equalled, and also before a tax of no doubt 20% is added. These cars will be sold for less than book value—bring an N.A.D.A. or any other book with you. Look it up yourself or ask to be shown. You just never heard of such a proposition, certainly not, and just before Decoration Day, too—when all dealers try to unload cars at the highest prices. Re-read this "ad" and use your head. No long allowances on trade-ins at sale prices but liberal consideration will be extended you in a friendly and salesmanlike manner.

NURSES ALUMNAE HAVE LOVELY PARTY TUESDAY

One of the most successful events on the calendar of social activities for the New Castle Hospital Nurses Alumnae was the party given Tuesday evening in the Nurses Home, Phillips street, when they entertained as their guests the Jameson-Shenango Nurses Alumnae association at an informal "good fellowship" party.

Upwards of 70 were in attendance, and with the weather man giving his biggest smile, the entire evening proved most enjoyable for those present. Much credit is due Mrs. Sylvia Greer, general chairman in charge, and those who aided her. Upon greeting the assemblage, the guests were seated at card tables, where they entered into a round of contests, filling in the early period. Afterwards, they were escorted to the main diningroom in the hospital, where they were served a delicious repast, places being arranged at two long banquet tables, colorfully decorated with clusters of flowers and lighted pink candles.

Rounding out the evening, Mrs. Greer presented the prizes for honor scores in the entertainment to the following: Miscellaneous games, Mrs. Haley, Miss E. Gibson and Miss Victoria Skanasky; bridge, Mrs. Olive Key, Mrs. Ann Vonderaue and Mrs. Kathryn Brice; 500, Sister DeCarrel, Mrs. Eleanor Butt and Mrs. Margaret Carrigan. For the door prize, with Mrs. Margaret Deveraux drawing, Phyllis Scungio was the winner.

Aiding Mrs. Greer throughout the evening were Mrs. Eleanor Cohen, Mrs. Christina Thompson, Mrs. Kathryn Brice, Mrs. Melissa Allen and Miss Margaret Varley.

MR. AND MRS. W. CLARK PLAN GOLDEN WEDDING

On Saturday, May 25, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Clark, who reside at Mt. Jackson, North Beaver township, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with their immediate family. Due to ill health of both the principals, the thought of a reception has been disregarded and the day will be spent quietly. They will welcome messages from their host of friends.

In the year of 1881 William R. Clark and Lucy H. White were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, and since that time have spent the greater part of their lives in Lawrence county and in this vicinity. They are the parents of three children, Mrs. Merwin Bush, of North Lima, O., Mrs. Joseph Gibson, of Mt. Jackson, and Raymond M. Clark, of Kent, O. Also, they have 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

A family dinner with their family circle, together with three sisters of the couple, Mrs. Lyde Strohecker, Mrs. Agnes Gray and Mrs. Fanny White, will highlight this memorable date.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Clark are well known and have been engaged in farming until 1929, when they moved to Mt. Jackson.

PLAYS LEADING PART IN PINAFORE

MISS BETTY CAMPBELL

Miss Betty Campbell, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt R. Campbell of North street, this city, won new laurels recently when she played a leading part in the presentation of H. M. S. Pinafore, by Gilbert and Sullivan, given by the Fairfax Hall glee club of Fairfax Hall, Waynesboro, Va., where she is enrolled as a student.

An exquisite setting was provided for the production, and the elaborate costumes added much color and glamor to the event. Miss Mary Clute, head of the voice department at Fairfax Hall, had in the cast 60 or more singers and actors of the college, who gave fine performances in the favorite and ever-popular opera.

Miss Campbell attended Linden Hall, at Little, Pa., for two years prior to enrolling at Fairfax Hall, where she has become a popular member of the campus. She will be graduated on June 9, this year, from Fairfax Hall, having completed her course of study for one year.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SWEARING CAN BE RAILED
Almost never in this column do I quote from an anonymous letter. But here is one that seems to deserve a place.

"Dear Dr. Myers:—I was interested to see your reply to a reader who asked if it was fair for a father to expect his young son not to swear when he himself often swears in that young son's presence."

"My father was a simply grand person, but he had been brought up roughly, and profanity was an integral part of his regular conversation. You know the type, I am sure. He never even knew he was using profanity, he was so trained to that sort of speech."

"My mother was the super-refined type of the Victorian era and a real lady besides. She taught us that it was too bad that Papa used swear words, but that he had been brought up differently from us so it was all right for him, because, although he tried hard not to use these words, they slipped out before he knew it and it wasn't really his fault. For us, of course, it was different and naturally we would not talk that way."

Teaching Worked
"My brothers are now men in their fifties and never in all my life, in all sort of circumstances and under every sort of strain and trial, have I ever heard any one of them use profanity."

"None of us ever felt any criticism of my father for his profanity, and all of us have respected and tried to imitate his many splendid traits, but we have not felt that we needed to imitate his shortcoming also."

This often happens. The influence of a wise, tolerant, loving mother and wife can compensate for such ills in a father and husband. The mother won her children to her ideals and point of view and she helped them appreciate the mountain of good in that father in comparison to the profanity. I'm not praising the profanity, just not condemning the whole father for a small part of him."

Other Corrective Measures
Apparently this father never cursed people nor abused them. Many who presume to be almost saints will violently hurt their own loved ones in words that are conventionally proper.

During recent months I have received a number of letters about children who are profane, usually at their parents. These distress me. If your child uses abusive language try to remain completely calm and wait until both he and you are entirely self-controlled. Then in your tenderest tones you might lead him to choose to control his tongue next time he feels enraged.

The first time you hear your young child (under 4) call you any body else an ugly name, give him instantly a good spanking, and always punish him for the offense. With adequate discipline during his early years in an atmosphere of refinement, sympathy and love, he will hardly then or later become addicted to profanity.

The World and the Mud Puddles

UNITED WE STAND

There have been repeated indications in the news of recent weeks that the United States and Canada are drawing closer together, as the world crisis becomes increasingly serious. The most recent evidence of this "hands across the border" policy is the announcement that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada have reached an agreement to merge the productive capacities of the two countries in furtherance of an all-out defense program. There are still many defense articles, it appears, which Canada must obtain from the United States. On the other hand, Canada can and will produce certain kinds of munitions, strategic materials, aluminum and ships which are urgently needed by this country if our army and navy are to be ready for any emergency.

Canada and the United States have been good neighbors in times of peace and it is neither surprising nor sinister that we should join hands for our common defense in times of world upheaval. We have chatted over the back fence with our northern neighbor for many years past, but we have come to have a real affection for the Canadian people. And we know that their country and our country have a common bond and a community of interests, which have made it unnecessary to build fortifications or maintain troops on our borders. In this time of crisis, when the Old World trembles on its very foundations, it is reassuring to know that most of the New World stands together, united in defense of the same ideals—and united in defense of America!

Hints On Etiquette

If there is any doubt in your mind as to whether to tell a certain story to friends or not, don't tell it. Telling a tale that is off-color may give you an undesirable reputation, especially if you are a woman.

But those swarming dollar-a-year men who keep their regular jobs and serve the public in spare time are paid about 70 cents too much.

There isn't really much difference between the American and the English methods of salutation as the people of both countries say "Hello." How are you? and "How do you do." Turks are very ceremonious and greet you with a grave, "God grant you his blessing" while the Persian quaintly wishes, "May your shadow never grow less."

French people ask you, "How do you carry yourself?" The Dutch "How do you travel?" The Swedes inquire, "How can you?" while the Spaniards want to know, "How are you passing it?"

Continuing yesterday's advice on correcting facial defects, we today, consider the too long, thin face that needs improvement by treatment that will reduce length and add width.

Many women, in their efforts to keep their figures slender, disfigure themselves with long thin faces and long necks. They must then resort to camouflage by use of lines that will give the face correcting effects. They must do all of those things forbidden to the plump-faced woman in my former column. The thin-faced woman who is still youthful may resort to fashion's "curly" bangs that, indeed, shorten the face.

The sides of the chin should be fluffed out and softened around the face. Avoid the straight-lined shoulder-length bob and all of the elongating effects shown in the sketch above on the right, wherein you can see the horse-faced effect given by these long lines. The broad, round hat, oval necklace and full bob take inches from her face length. In other words, surround your face as much as possible with what gives the effect of horizontal lines and avoid, like the plague, all that give the effect of vertical lines.

Question: Our school gives two or three dances a year which I must attend. I have no regular escort and so must ask a boy to take me. Do you think these boys will think I am "running after" them? College Freshman.

Answer: Not if you ask a boy you know fairly well and one who has taken you out. Buy two tickets and pay for them yourself. You might find it embarrassing to ask a new acquaintance to take you to the dances. You would not know whether he accepted for the sake of politeness or because he enjoys your company. Never invite a boy to a dance and expect him to supply the tickets. Since most girls of your age are "unattached" they must ask boys to take them to school dances; and unless the boys are suffering from an over-dose of conceit, they will understand.

DISILLUSION
For weeks I longed to kiss you: I really was obsessed. With deep desire to feel your lips Upon my own—caressed.

And then, last night, it happened. I found you in my arms—With face uplifted to my own, Your starry eyes, twin charms.

I bent my head and kissed you—Placed my lips where lips belong: My heart went on its even way, Which really was all wrong.

I kissed you. 'Twas an awful flop. I feel no great elation. A kiss, you see, is not so good, Without cooperation!

An engineer surveying the right-of-way for the proposed railroad was talking to a farmer. "Yes," he said, "the line will run right through your barnyard."

Guest: "That's just the trouble. Twice already, I've gone down to the dining room without my trousers."

First Golfer: "Shall we play another round next Monday?" Second Golfer: "Well, I was to be married on Monday, but I can put it off till Tuesday."

Believe Hoover Talked Too Much
Over-Expressed Self On Convoys
Isolationists Express Opinions

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, May 21.—Ex-President Herbert Hoover, broadcasting his views, some evenings ago, on the subject of American naval conveying of our shipments to Britain-ward, didn't stop at saying that our adoption of the convoy plan would be extremely likely to involve us in war.

Quite a few of our best isolationists in Congress confess that they wish he had stopped right there. They've said that much.

President Roosevelt himself has agreed that our escort warcraft might get into shooting matches with Axis submarines, planes or surface raiding ships, and he's conceded that "shooting is pretty close to war."

All that's obvious to anybody. But Herbert Hoover's proposition was that our navy (or much of it) as may be assigned to convoy duty, "must attack German submarines, ships and planes, to be of any use."

Our pro-convoy and outright interventionist congressmen were prompt to jump on that remark as the bunk, and, as previously observed, there are even isolationists who think that Herb's weakened their case by over-expressing himself.

The argument's this: We're engaged in sending supplies to Britain. They're going, at present, in British vessels, but they're our supplies until they're sinking more or less of them in delivered. And the Germans are transit. Authorities differ as to just how much this destruction amounts to. Nevertheless, there's a good bit of it; there's no question as to that.

And they're OUR supplies (regardless of the nationality of the boats they're being transported in) while in process of being sunk.

Ours Until Delivered
Suppose, for instance, that we get an order of goods from Britain and find it convenient to send 'em to the consignee in a British bottom. We don't sell 'em to that particular ship. We sell those to the British and they're ours until they're delivered to our customer—just as a grocer still owns his sugar and coffee and breakfast food until his delivery wagon hands 'em over to the housewife who asked for 'em, by phone.

It's true that our sales to Britain are on a credit basis and everybody may be mulling certain that the bill never will be paid. But that's none of the Nazis' business. If, ultimately, we can't collect a cent, it's our funeral; not theirs.

Well, Axis blockaders are busy sinking this stuff. When they do it, they sink a British ship, too. May be that ship-sinking's none of our affair, either, since it isn't our ship. However, the ship's contents are OURS, up to that point.

Let's get back to the case of the grocer aforesaid. Suppose his delivery wagon's overworked, so he borrows or hires several from some other chap. But a gang of hoodlums make a practice of overhauling his supplementary wagons, snatching 'em up and confiscating their cargoes, which consequently never get to his customers. Possibly the grocer cares nothing for the other fellow's wagons that he's borrowed or hired, but he does object to the interference with his own deliveries. Accordingly, he arms his drivers with a shotgun apiece, and the next time one of 'em's jumped by the hoodlums gang, he shoots 'em full of lead slugs.

Can that grocer properly be said to have "attacked" those hoodlums? We'll Not Go Hunting
It isn't suggested that our navy should go hunting Axis submarines, planes and surface raiders. Oh, yes, our ultra-interventionists urge our all-out participation in the war. The merely pro-convoy boys, though, advocate only armed escorts for protection.

The Great Game Of Politics

The President's Load
WASHINGTON, May 21.
THERE is much talk in Washington just now about finding ways of reducing the weight of the burdens the President is bearing. There is nothing serious the matter with him, but it is agreed that he has taken on more work than he can do; that what he is attempting to do is beyond his capacity—or, for that matter, any man's capacity.

EVIDENCE that it is far beyond his capacity is attested in two ways. First, there is the undeniable fact that nothing governmental in Washington is being well done. It isn't merely that the defense job is being botched. That indictment is made not by the opponents of the Administration. It is made by men on the inside of the defense organization itself, such, for example, as Mr. W. L. Batt, deputy director of the OPM's production division, who, with various colleagues, a few days ago made public a blistering report upon the management of the defense program.

It is not only that, as Mr. Batt reports, the defense job lags, but few of the normal governmental agencies are being kept up to their pre-defense standards. And no one has contended that they have been very high at any time in the last eight years. Mr. Roosevelt himself has said that the weakest thing about the New Deal has been its administration. That, of course, is true, if you except its basic unsoundness. Today the most superficial examination of the governmental agencies reveals a general letdown in efficiency and force, a marked deterioration in personnel and morale.

The SEC is an example. With a chairman known to be angling for a Federal judgeship, and two vacancies, this board has degenerated into a shrewish and nagging instrumentality in which the real activity is shown by junior officials ambitious to land one of the vacant places.

The Federal Communications Commission is another. Here is a Government board which, in the midst of a national emergency, has produced (Continued On Page Eight)

NEW YORK—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia outlines two tasks that face the American nation.

"On the one hand, we must expedite to the utmost the shipment of badly needed war materials and supplies for Britain, and on the other hand we must develop new and enlarged trading facilities with our sister republics of the Americas."

MONTREAL—Arthur B. Purvis, chairman of the British Supply Council of North America, believes that the productive resources of the United Kingdom and this continent can "swamp" Germany.

"Time is short, but not too short if the job is tackled in the way it must be."

HAMILTON, Ont.—U. S. Senator Claude Pepper contends that the time for hesitation in world affairs has passed.

"Let us confess that our way of life has been tardily adapted to the technology of the current day and that the most obsolescent of all our equipment is our thinking, the excessive tenacity with which we hold to the old, the over-reliance with which we embrace the new."

Committees in charge were: entertainment, Mrs. Lillian Sholler; Mrs. Ruth Lutz; Mrs. Margaret Lowery; decorations, Miss Emma Maxwell; Miss Freda Campbell; Miss Cleora Williams; Mrs. Viola Jameson; Mrs. Doris Foley and Miss Virginia Wilson.

Celma Hazlett Bible class members met at a nicely appointed house on Allen street Tuesday evening for their "mothers" event, with activities being launched with the singing of "Sweet Hour Of Prayer". Mrs. Hazel Parks read the scripture and Mrs. William Kennedy offered prayer.

An impressive feature was pinning of flowers on the mothers, as the roll call was answered. Mrs. I. Miller gave a vocal solo and a duet was offered by Mrs. Charles Robinson and Mrs. Richard Owey. A beloved member of the church, known as Mother Covert, was introduced as guest speaker, and gave an appropriate address. Mrs. Gardner followed with a selected poem and Mrs. Reynolds contributed a reading. The concluding feature was a vocal duet by Mrs. William McKenzie and her mother, Mrs. Smith.

Tempting refreshments were served afterwards by the hostess, with Mrs. Rachael Reynolds, Mrs. Lena Minsky, Mrs. Clarence Allison and Mrs. Hazel Balint aiding.

PARTY AT CASTLETON HONORS MISS JACKSON

Miss Eleanor Jackson, bride-elect, was honored at a nicely appointed party Tuesday evening, when Miss Angie Pozzuto and Mrs. Elmer Hulme entertained jointly at the Castleton at a miscellaneous shower. Diversion was found in tables of 500, with attractive prizes falling to Libbie E. Miller of Ellwood City, Mary Archetta and Marie Holter of Wampum. Lunch was a later pleasure, when the group was served at a table prettily arranged in keeping with the event.

At a suitable time, the honoree was presented with a collection of lovely gifts, to be used in her new home.

Miss Jackson, a resident of Wampum, will become the bride of Dr. Guy Shugert of Rochester on June 28, the ceremony to be performed in the Presbyterian church of Wampum at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. J. G. Bingham will officiate.

HIGH SCHOOL CHORUS MEMBERS HAVE PARTY

New Castle high school chorus members entertained about 100 alumni of the school chorus at a party in the high school Tuesday evening. Nearly 200 were in attendance in all with chorus members since 1937-38 participating. All had been members of the high school chorus since Robert A. Duff has been the director.

A song-fest was enjoyed, followed by a program featuring solo dances and vocal solos. A student orchestra led by William Alexander, a chorus member, played for a period of dancing.

The event proved to be so enjoyable that it was decided to make it an annual affair.

Special guests were Mrs. Robert A. Duff and Mrs. Norman P. Nelson.

voked an unnecessary and bitter row affecting the whole radio business, promising to wreck the existing broadcasting system and threatening general chaos in a very important industry. The merits of the issues raised are not clear except to those who have studied the situation, but certainly the temper shown and the language used by Mr. James Fly would indicate a degree of heat hard to reconcile with the judicial attitude appropriate to the commission of which he is the chairman.

MR. FLY is a friend of Mr. Tommy Corcoran, who at the moment is out of the Government service and busily engaged as a lawyer here in Washington in lining his pockets with fat fees from the very element which for quite a long time he so merely used as a target. It is not asserted that Mr. Corcoran is in any way back of the recent decision of the Federal Communications Commission—which, by the way, was protested not only by two of its members but by the able and open-minded Mr. Mark Ethridge, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, whom Mr. Roosevelt had asked to make a study of the whole radio situation for him with a view to making recommendations in the public interest.

BEFORE Mr. Ethridge could begin his study Mr. Fly and his colleagues promulgated their drastic order, and this led to a very serious indictment by Mr. Ethridge of the majority of the commission. In effect, he accused it of having deceived the President, of being unfair and unsound in its present action, and in the past, not free from politics in the performance of its ordinary duties, chief of which is the granting of licenses. The Ethridge indictment was the more effective because it came from a recognized friend of the President. Ultimately this middle will have to be settled by the courts, by a Congressional investigation or by action by Mr. Roosevelt. In any event, it all lends weight to the charge that the President has so much to do these days that he cannot do anything well and some of the New Deal agencies are running loose and wild.

IT would be easy to pile up more evidence of this slackening in administration. There is the fact that the President has permitted a vacancy on the Supreme Court to exist for nearly four months, although nearly everyone has known for the past two years whom he has decided to appoint. There is also the conflict between the fiscal officials of the Government on financial policies. And there is the fact that Mr. Jesse Jones' reputation for efficiency, made as director of the RFC, has decidedly diminished since he took over the post of Secretary of Commerce and control of all other lending agencies, outside of the Agriculture Department. Like the President, he is spread out a little too thin. He is a good man, but he has too much to do.

THE fact is no one in position to make the comparison can survey the governmental situation here today without conceding that there has been a distinct and unmistakable decline, which in some spots has almost reached the stage of decay. There is in all this unquestioned evidence that the President has so much to do that he cannot give the time needed to keep in line normal governmental agencies up to even the New Deal standards of efficiency. The other way in which it is made clear that his load is too heavy will be given in another article.

tion of our shipments abroad. If Axis subs and things will let our exports alone, our escorts will let THEM alone.

Of course, scarcely anyone believes that the Axis will do it, convoys or no convoys. If not, if conveying starts, presumably there'll be shooting, which, as F. D. R. says, "is pretty close to war."

And yet—There are observers who maintain that Herr Hitler doesn't want war with the United States—not now. If he did, they think he'd have declared it already. Convoys might force his hand, and coerce him into a declaration. Or maybe they wouldn't.

To Investigate State's Supply Of Skilled Labor

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 21.—An investigation to determine the existing supply of skilled labor was ordered by the state defense council. Dr. A. C. Marts, executive director, said conflicting reports made it difficult to determine whether a labor shortage had arisen in Pennsylvania.

"This investigation will be started immediately," said Marts. "We want to get the facts regarding what skilled labor can be had in Pennsylvania to aid in the production of the millions of dollars worth of defense orders being placed in our industrial plants."

"Some say there is a present shortage of over 250,000 while others contend there is no shortage," he added. "We intend to get the facts as quickly and the information will be made public without delay."

A report of the state employment service claimed that the skilled labor shortage was "acute."

More Testimony In Donnelly Case

Accountant Is Heard At Trial In Progress In Federal Court

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 21.—An accountant hired by the defense to audit his accounts for income tax purposes for the years of 1935 and 1936 today admitted in federal court that McClellan J. Donnelly should have paid the government a total of $2,767.58 instead of only $135.

Franklin Jones, members of a Pittsburgh auditing firm who was hired to look over the accounts of the New Castle insurance broker shortly after the federal government began its investigation, testified that according to his records, Donnelly earned $19,500 in 1935 on which a tax of $1,409.04 was due. Donnelly paid no income tax in 1935.

In 1936, Jones continued, Donnelly made $18,575.38, which should have carried an income tax of $1,358.54. That year Donnelly paid a tax of $135. Figures compiled by the government, however, claim that the defendant actually owes $4,342 in taxes.

Recess Taken

The trial recessed suddenly this morning at 11:15 until 1:15 when Juror No. 10 mistook a seven-minute recess for the lunch period.

Earlier a $461 hotel bill for a three-day seaside business visit that extended into a three-week family vacation was read into the record over defense objection at the income tax evasion trial.

The New Castle insurance broker is being tried in federal district court for allegedly attempting to evade payment of $4,342 in income taxes.

J. H. Slocum, an executive of an Ocean City, N. J. hotel, testified that on June 30, 1936, the Donnelly family arrived at his establishment for a conference held by the E. A. Woods Company, one company through whom Donnelly worked as a broker.

The insurance conference lasted three days but the Donnelly family stayed three weeks, Slocum said. The $461.71 hotel bill first was charged to Donnelly and later was shifted to the E. A. Woods Company, which paid the bill.

The government charges that Donnelly illegally deducted this and other expenses. Donnelly's counsel objected to the Slocum testimony. The government attorney explained he expected to substantiate it as being an illegal deduction. Judge Nelson McVicar let the testimony stand on this condition.

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DAFOE FINDS DEFENSE JOB FOR EVERY ONE OF US

This is a time when we need to conserve every national resource, and most particularly health. Though it is the greatest of them all, this is not as difficult to conserve as some of our other resources. For the body has a wondrous way of building up and maintaining resistance to disease, if only we will let it.

For example, when a child is quite small, it's body is invaded by the germ that causes tuberculosis. The body's equipment for fighting disease is automatically aroused. Dormant white blood cells are brought into action to devour the first invaders and maintain a ceaseless vigil against new waves of them. They repel them all, unless the invasion is too large—as a result, say, of direct contact with a sufferer from the disease—or repeated too often for the body's forces to withstand, as happens in the case of prolonged exposure to an active case of tuberculosis in a home.

This building up of resistance by contact in childhood isn't confined to tuberculosis alone. It happens in the cases of other diseases. Where there aren't such contacts to build up resistance, there are epidemics. Measles ordinarily is not a fatal disease, but when an epidemic of this remote community where it never appeared before, the death rate is very high. Similarly, when primitive peoples come first into contact with tuberculosis, they succumb quickly to it.

The point is that we have in our bodies armies always ready to fight invaders. But often we neglect these armies, and they overcome us. This happens frequently among boys and girls in their late teens or early twenties. They play too much or too hard. They pay little attention to eating the proper foods, or diet rigorously to keep that figure. They exhaust themselves day in and day out and do not get the proper amount of regular rest. They strive to live in the midst of nerve-racking excitement. So the great bulk of tuberculosis victims are between the ages of 15 and 30. A shockingly high percentage of men in the draft ages, which should be the prime of life, have been found physically unfit because of this and other preventable diseases.

There are odd stories told about how this person or that happened to get tuberculosis, but no matter how the disease was contracted, there is but one cause: Tubercle bacillus, the inroads of which can always be prevented.

Perhaps not always by the persons themselves, for there are innocent victims, such as the child who has to live in the same house with, and isn't properly protected from, an active case of tuberculosis. And those who, for economic reasons, have to exist on poor food in overcrowded, unsanitary homes, or have to work too hard. When times are hard, the disease increases.

We can check tuberculosis and all the other diseases invading us constantly. We need to do so, with all our might, in the interest of national protection. It is a defense job for every one of us.

Consider Plans For Providing Safe Sea Lane

Discuss Move For Use Of Navy

New Method Is Alternative To Suggestions Of Naval Convoys

SEEK TO PROTECT ATLANTIC ROUTES

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 21.—More effective use of the American navy to help establish a safe sea lane across the north Atlantic for the transportation of vital war supplies to Great Britain today was believed to be under consideration by the administration.

The belief prevailed in congressional and diplomatic quarters that the government was considering the establishment of this protected ocean line to Britain as an alternative to convoying.

Less Talk of Convoys
There was less and less talk in informed quarters of the possibility of actual convoys as known in the last war. In the first place, President Roosevelt was believed to disapprove of the use of this word to describe the action that may be taken to protect the shipping routes to the British Isles and possibly the Red sea.

Furthermore, naval experts were known to consider the establishment of a well-protected sea lane a more effective and less dangerous procedure than the escorting of a group of merchant ships which could only travel as fast as the slowest vessel in the convoy.

Methods Not Disclosed
Naval officials would not disclose the methods that might be used to maintain a "safe sea lane." In diplomatic quarters, however, the belief was expressed that it could be done by concentrating the patrol ships along the sea lane with orders not only to signal the approach of any German submarines but to "warn off" the latter by dropping depth charges near enough to frighten the U-boats without actually attempting to destroy them.

OLD-AGE CHECKS ALREADY PAID TO 25,818 IN STATE

Social Security Director Says Program Keeps Families Together

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—At the end of the first year of operation of the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance plan of monthly payments, 25,818 persons in Pennsylvania were drawing benefit checks amounting to $479,992.70 a month, it was announced today by William L. Dill, regional director of the Social Security Board.

Beneficiaries are retired workers, aged wives, young and old widows, dependent children and dependent parents.

Payments were being made at a rate of more than $5,750,000 a year, Mr. Dill pointed out. The benefit rolls are growing month by month as more workers retire or die, he added, citing the fact that they more than doubled during the last half of 1940.

George W. Ervin, manager of New Castle field office in the Johnson building, said he could not reveal check payments affecting the local office alone.

The figures represent benefits in force as of December 31, 1940. They do not include claims of those who were on rolls during some part of the year and later removed. Principal causes of removal were death, return to covered employment by retired workers, earnings by other beneficiaries, marriage of widows and children, and attainment of age 18 by children in cases where children's and widow's benefits were contingent upon child dependency. "The outstanding significance of the figures," Dill said, "is the clear indication of what this program is doing and will do increasingly to hold families together when the breadwinner dies or retires. This insurance is serving a truly American purpose in that respect."

Most Are Retired Workers
More than half the beneficiaries are retired wage earners. There were 13,084 of them on December 31 and they were drawing $301,714.49 a month. More than one-fourth of them, 3,675, had wives above age 65 who were receiving one-half as much each month as the retired worker. Wives' benefits were $44,643.80.

"Even more impressive from a family preservation point of view is the number of widows with dependent children and the children who are receiving monthly insurance payments. There were 2,379 widows with dependent children drawing $46,469.99 a month and 6,073 dependent children receiving $75,444.87 a month. Without this income, many of these families might have been broken up when the breadwinner died, and certainly the opportunities of most of the children to fit themselves for useful and self-sustaining citizenship would have been curtailed."

In addition, 517 widows above age 65 were receiving monthly payments of $10,495.28 and 90 dependent parents were receiving $1,224.27 a month.

Widows of insured workers may receive benefits regardless of age while they have dependent children under age 18 in their care and the dependent children also receive benefits. In case the insured worker either dies or retires.

When the widow has no dependent children under age 18, she may receive monthly payments at age 65. The widow's benefit is three-fourths that of the wage earner and the child's benefit is one-half of the wage earner's. Wives and dependent parents also receive one-half the wage earner's benefit. Payments are made to dependent parents only in case the wage earner dies and leaves no widow or unmarried child under age 18.

Donora Rejects Housing Project

DONORA, Pa., May 21—Donora borough council has turned thumbs down on a proposed half-million dollar low-rent housing project for the community.

Council's action in adopting a resolution to take no action on the selection of a site for the project was considered the equivalent of dropping the project, Council President Sam E. Koedel indicated.

Principal opposition to the project appeared to come from taxpayers who objected to the tax-exempt nature of the proposition.

Donora was the first community in Washington county to apply for a housing project, and four sites were considered, including Washington.

German Invasion Of Portugal Is Probable

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON, May 21.—The seeming inevitability of a German invasion of Portugal is being openly admitted on all sides in Lisbon today.

Speculation over the date of "der tag" has become the Portuguese capital's favorite indoor sport.

The general agreement is that it can happen at any time but more probably between June 1 and 15.

Prime Minister Dr. Oliveira Salazar's exhortation to Portugal to resist an attack from whatever direction it may come is being given the horse-laugh by informed diplomats.

This attitude is based on knowledge of Portugal's poorly armed and trained army, the best of which has already gone to guard the Azores, and the tiny navy, the bulk of which is now significantly concentrated at the mouth of the Tagus river at Lisbon apparently in readiness to evacuate the government in the event of an emergency.

The manner in which Portugal is being rapidly denuded of fighting men is causing cynical foreign observers to remark that "this is the first time in this European war an army is being evacuated before the invasion."

It is the diplomatic consensus that the Germans will go westwards through Portugal like a knife through soft cheese when they decide to move.

The Azores are rapidly becoming the center-point of Portugal's hopes for continued existence. New defenses in the Azores are being feverishly constructed and the old ones are being reconditioned with similar speed. The islands are constantly receiving new troop reinforcements.

Princeton Class To Repeat Play At Church Here

"Mother-In-Law Blues" To Be Given At Third United Presbyterian Church

The junior class of Princeton high school will again present the class play, "Mother-in-Law Blues," at the Third United Presbyterian church, New Castle, on Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock.

This play proved to be very successful when first presented at the school two weeks ago.

Earl Shaffer, as the worried young husband, has the sympathy of the audience, while his young wife, played by Katherine McCormick, gave a good demonstration of the efficiency of young brides. Don Ray was one of the supposed mothers-in-law, while Louis Houk was the real mother-in-law.

Others in the cast include: Homer Black, Virginia Wimer, Eunice Currie, Clarendia Johnson, James Fisher, Ruth Young, Jean Stoner and Catherine Copper. The play is coached by Mrs. Alfaretta Johnson with Margaret Weingartner as assistant director and Charles McConaghy as stage manager.

Lower Age Limit For Marine Corps

Young Men 17 Years Of Age May Now Enlist For Four Years In U. S. Marines

According to an announcement made today by the Pittsburgh recruiting office of the U. S. Marine Corps, the minimum age requirement for enlistment has been lowered to 17 years.

This will enable young men who are about to graduate from high school, and others, to enlist immediately in either the reserve or regular service.

The period of enlistment in the Marine Corps Reserve is only for the duration of the national emergency, while the enlistment for the regulars is for four years. The maximum age requirement for both regulars and reserves is 30 years.

Complete information regarding enlistment may be secured from Postmaster William R. Hanna here.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"Oh, woe is me. I am growing old—there is a wrinkle!"

Most women wear wrinkles as they would the plague.

The skin wrinkles due to loss of elastic tissue in the skin.

Loss of fat in the skin will also cause skin to wrinkle.

The skin of blonds shows age more readily than that of brunettes.

Aging in the skin is a noticeable feature of advancing years.

The skin becomes thinner with age, the hair grows or falls out.

Colored spots appear in the skin and there may be warty growths.

Prominent tiny blood vessels become evident in the skin.

Wind and sun tend to age the skin.

Drying of the skin may be delayed by application of grease.

Worrying about wrinkles adds more wrinkles.

Dodgers Protest Defeats By Cubs
Brooklyn Manager Claims Cubs Over Player Limit Sunday, Monday
(International News Service)
CHICAGO, May 21. — General Manager James T. Gallagher of the Chicago Cubs expressed confidence today that Brooklyn manager Leo Durocher's protest of the Sunday and Monday Cubs-Dodgers games—both of which the Bruins won—will not be allowed.

Durocher protested the games on the ground the Cubs are over the 25-player limit. The Brooklyn pilot insisted that Outfielder Charley Gilbert, obtained by Chicago from Montreal on May 6, is a member of the team although he has not yet reported to the club—thus giving the Bruins 26 players.

DYKES IN 18 SERIES GAMES
CHICAGO — Jimmy Dykes, who recently scratched his name from the active playing list to devote complete thought to managing the pennant-bound Chicago White Sox, played in 18 World Series games.

All told, robust Jimmy participated in 2,282 major league frays.

Golf League To Meet Tonight On Plans For Tourney

Sylvan Heights League Is Backing West Penn Public Links Event

Following a preliminary meeting of golfers interested in bringing the West Penn public links tournament to the Sylvan Heights course, which was discussed at a meeting in the clubhouse at the course last evening, those present voted to defer action until this evening.

President Geno Veri has asked all captains of the league to meet following the matches this evening, when a chairman will be named for the coming event, and the committees will be appointed to get the various arrangements under way.

Much enthusiasm was shown at last night's meeting, and there is no question but that the tournament will be brought here, as the players of the local course are anxious to see the event brought to this city.

JOHN NOGRADY IS DARKHORSE
CHICAGO — In any sports classic, there must be a darkhorse of some kind.

With the start of the annual professional world's tennis championship at Chicago Saturday, John Nogrady has been installed as the darkhorse. Nogrady reached the semi-finals last season.

DETROIT—Outfielder Pat Mullin has rejoined the Detroit Tigers with a batting average of close to .400 compiled during his brief stay in Buffalo. Pat is a very fast outfielder and will make Del Baker a valuable utility man if he does not break into the regular lineup.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Bits from the sports fields:
Future Wampum high basketball players won't have to practice out in the cold amid snow flakes or thumb their way to nearby Ellwood City for a session or so. Coach L. B. Hennon cheerfully reported today that workmen have completed excavating the spot where the school's new sports plant will be erected.

The $35,000 one-story structure will be ready for use by the time the next cage sport season arrives. The playing floor will be larger than any other in the county (Class B). The gym will seat 800 customers. Without a home court the Wampum flippers bagged the Section 20 cage last season. Equipped with their own den, the Cementers should go to town.

New Castle's Teddy Lyons—Paul McCullough—is still as effective around these parts as the Chicago White Sox is in the majors. Paul, who saw action with Washington and several American Association clubs, elbowed the East Side Civics of Youngstown to a 4-2 verdict on Sunday, limiting his foes to three hits and retiring the first 17 men to face him.

Arthur Donovan has been appointed by the District of Columbia Boxing Commission to referee Friday's go between Joe Louis and Buddy Baer in Washington's Griffith Stadium. ... Craig Wood, the golf champion, didn't take up the

The White Sox are next to last in hitting and sixth in fielding in their league. Still, the Dykesmen are pressing the Indians for the American league pennant. Sounds fishing but true. The miracle is being accomplished with the most important ingredient on any ball club—pitching.

The consensus of opinion in the National is that the Cincy Reds are all burned out. ... Another rumor attaches the name of "Zeke" Bonura with the Yanks who need a first sacker. Bonura, who is out of the big show because he covers first as if he's in a strait jacket, is hitting at a .404 clip for Minneapolis and has driven in 25 runs.

Bedford Springs golf tournament will be held July 27-28. Joe Gedon, 48, former major league baseball player, died in San Francisco Tuesday of a heart ailment. He went to Washington in the American league in 1902 from San Francisco of the Coast league. ... Whirlaway won Tuesday's Henry of Navarre's stakes at Belmont park before 16,000 fans. Wendell Eads rode Whirlaway, who easily beat Midland. ... Anton Christoforidis is favored to beat Gus Lesnevich in New York, Friday night.

At Zill, boxing promoter of Youngstown, has offered Petey Scalzo $3,500 to defend his featherweight title against Mike Ruffa of Newell, W. Va., who fought here as an amateur. Ruffa isn't the only amateur who is showing prominence who had fought here. Sammy Angott, Washington, Pa., was brought to the Jolly bowl by George Tucker, W. & J. boxing coach. ... An electric starting gate will be in use when Wheeling Downs racing begins today.

Deep-seated rivalry between Russell Baxter and Lester Leasure, New Castle amateur boxing middleweights has broken into a battle of words and it is very probable the words spoken by respective trainers of the boxers may add heat to the situation.

Some days ago, Tommy Leach who handles the training chores for Baxter let a few words slip from his chest. The outburst was to the effect that when the boxers were "pals in training," Baxter upon one occasion "had Leasure 'out on his feet'". Tommy claims he gave the nod and Bax to 'let up' on Leasure.

Mike Fazzone, the man who trains Lester, yesterday likewise unburdened a few words after some of the fans had teased Signor Mike. "Well, some of you may believe Baxter will win but let me recall that in a 'bout' recently in the Moose hall, Leasure almost had Baxter knocked out," Mike asserted.

Must Name Winner
So, there you are, fistie folk! The pot is boiling. Both signors, Leach and Fazzone, are now at 'dinner-points' concerning their respective prizegates. Both of them cannot have a winner. No draws are permitted in amateur boxing so the judges and referee must name a winner, Monday night in The Arena.

Leasure and Baxter are scheduled to box at 180 pounds. This will be an important item in the fight. The Amateur Athletic Union Commissioner here, Ed. Fritz, asserted that the weight agreement must be obeyed.

There will be seven other bouts on the card and with good weather prevailing there possibly will be an overflow crowd in the air-cooled Arena.

Softball Loop Games Tonight

Five more games will be played in the Lawrence County Softball League today. The games will start at 6 o'clock.

There has been a change in the playing field of the Johnson Bronze and Sons of Italy game. It will be played at Gaston Park instead of Dean Park as at first announced. All players are to take notice of the change.

Games for tonight are as follows: Ellport Tigers vs. Valentinos—Hickory Heights.
Sunny Boys vs. Fannins—Rose avenue.
Donofrios vs. Columbus A. C.—Liberty street.

Radiators vs. Ellwood Sons of Italy—Ewing Park.
Sons of Italy vs. Johnson Bronze—Dean Park.

Meet Willie Mosconi, the pocket billiards titleholder. Born in Philadelphia 27 years ago of Italian parents, he is the eldest of four sons and now weighs 140 pounds. Mosconi is single, eligible for the draft, and is a poor golfer—rarely breaking 90.

Little Beans, winner of the Miami Springs Purse at Tropical Park, rated so badly his owner, Rocky Paladino, couldn't get stable space at the New York tracks last summer.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

There'll be two games at 5:45 p. m. today in the Lawrence County Baseball league. Bessemer will oppose Wampum at the latter place and Hillsville will journey to Ellwood City to take on the 1940 champions who are leading the loop this season. ... Geneva split with Washington & Jefferson in golf and tennis yesterday in Beaver Falls. The golfers were blanked by the Presidents, 0-0 but Geneva blanked W. & J. in tennis by the same score.

The lightweight situation will be clarified in September. Lew Jenkins, champion of New York and other states which are not affiliated with the National Boxing association, and Sammy Angott, the NBA king, will meet, according to reports from New York City today, Jenkins lost an overweight match to Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia, in New York Friday. Angott defeated Lenny Mancini of Youngstown in Cleveland, Monday night.

Waukega, 55, one of the prime football tricksters of Pop Warner's Carlisle Indians, died of a heart attack last night in Salem, Ore. White men knew him as Emil Hauser. Friends credited him with first pulling the hidden ball trick, slipping the ball under his jersey and walking goalward while frantic opponents chased other Indians pretending to have the ball. He was connected with the Chemawa Indian school at Salem 27 years, part of the time as coach.

Joe Pepe Nearly In Hall Of Fame As Croton Defeats Moose Club 7 To 1

Except for a little Texas league single in the sixth inning from the bat of Annerella, the Croton pitcher ace, Joe Pepe, would have had a Hall of Fame seat today, as he allowed no other Moose club player to hit safely. The Croton team won its second league game of the season from the Moose club, 7 to 1.

Johnson Snarls Tails Of Tigers

Red Sox Freshman Hurler Handcuffs Tigers For 4 To 2 Win, Pirates Defeat Giants

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 21.—Pitchers, especially left handers, usually require more time to develop than other players. But now and then one comes along with so much stuff he can make the majors with little or no trouble.

We have in mind today the case of Eason Johnson, 22-year-old lefty of the Red Sox. Boston plucked this six-foot-three youngster off the St. Mary's (Cal.) campus only a year ago and shipped him to Rocky Mount in the Piedmont league for seasoning.

The average youngster normally would require several years of minor league ball to work his way up through the various grades to the majors. But not Johnson. He showed so much stuff in winning 12 and losing 6 for Rocky Mount, and the Red Sox were in such desperate straits for pitching of any kind, that Joe Cronin decided to take a chance on him.

Handcuffs Tigers
Therefore, he was pulled up to the majors last summer and went on to win six and lose two before the curtain was rung down. Yesterday Cronin turned Johnson loose against the Tigers and he proceeded to handcuff slugging outfit with four hits for a 4-2 decision.

That performance would indicate that Cronin has solved at least part of his pitching problem. Now, if he can only come up with three or four more Johnsons he might win the pennant.

The White Sox tightened up the race a bit by stopping the Senators, 5-2, behind Thornton Lee's left.

But for a scratch single by Knight the West Side A. C. left-fielder, Dick Witherow, ace of the Elders hurling staff would have carved his name in the local Hall of Fame with a no-hitter, and as a consequence the Elders rang up their fourth straight City League win to retain the lead. The score was 7 to 0, the West Side A. C. team being the victims.

ELLWOOD CITY, May 21.—A most successful institute was held on Tuesday by the Hazel Dell and Wayne W. C. T. U. societies at the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church, with excellent programs being presented in the afternoon and evening.

"Be of Good Cheer and He Shall Strengthen You" was the theme and the entire program centered about that title. The afternoon program included:

Report of directors: Evangelist, Mrs. J. M. Houk; flower mission, Mrs. Thomas Rodgers and Mrs. Matilda McPate; Union Signal, Mrs. Roy Meehan, and religious education, Mrs. Clair Boyer, with a demonstration of the work being given by Norma Jean Guy and Sally Meehan.

A ribbon tying for babies followed under the direction of Mrs. Herman Persons and Mrs. Victor Markle. The babies were Joan, William C. and Carol Jean Klindienst, Harvey Guy, Bonnie Mains, William Stevenson, Rosalie and Marjorie Cover, Mrs. Helen Wilkins and Mrs. Edna Couter tied the ribbons and the dedicatory prayer was given by Mrs. Thompson. "Echoes of the Regional Convention" held recently at Bradford were given by Mrs. Wilkins as the closing afternoon feature.

At the evening session, a program was given by the newly organized Youth Temperance Council. Those taking part were Mrs. C. W. Yahn, Mrs. Herman Persons, Miss Gladys Kiesling, Miss Clara Hardy, Miss Ruth Springer and William Hardy.

A medal contest followed under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Pringle, local director, and Mrs. D. E. Cole of Princeton, county director. A brief business meeting was held in which each member was assigned what they are to bring for the twelve dinner to be held Sunday, May 25.

handed slants, while the Athletics were chasing Mel Harder to trim the Indians, 6-5. And the Yanks won a game from the Browns, 10-9, they should have lost. The Browns pounded out 13 hits, including three homers, but they offset all their line hitting by six atrocious errors.

Some of the clubs in the other league show signs of coming to life and it may be we are in for one of those old fashioned National league races after all.

Pirates Top Giants
The Pirates again took the Giants, this time 7-5, behind the steady pitching of Bob Klinger and for the third straight time the Dodgers bowed to the Cubs, 9-1.

Bill Lee went the route against the skidding Dodgers while the Cubs routed Kirby Higbe, the third Dodger ace to get an early shower in as many days.

The Reds swept their early series with the Braves by staging a six-run rally in the ninth to win, 9-6. Alva Johnson came in as a relief pitcher with two on base and two down in the ninth to pitch to big Frank McCormick. The first baseman promptly rifled a home run out of the park and away went the ball game.

And the Phillies surprised the Cardinals by pounding out 16 hits off Shoun and Hutchinson for a 6-4 verdict in 11 innings.

RUEL GETS CREDIT
CHICAGO — Muddy Ruel is being showered with praise these days. The White Sox coach is being credited with the surprise improvement of Bill Dietrich and Edgar Smith, Philadelphia Athletic hurling cast-offs now shipping with the Pale Hose.

WESLEY TAKES FORFEIT
The Wesley Methodist church softball team took a forfeit from the First Christian team last night at Scotland Lane Field, the latter team failing to show up for a scheduled league game.

Contract For Automobile Liability And Damage Insurance Goes To Chester Hall

ELLWOOD CITY, May 21.—To award the bid for automobile liability and damage insurance, a special meeting of the Ellwood council was held last evening.

The contract went to C. Chester Hall at a $375 fleet rate.

The awarding of the bid was the only official business that could be transacted at the meeting, but the members did verbally agree to grant the Memorial committee the sum of $300 for the local celebration, if that amount is needed.

Boro Manager Lowell W. Monroe said that the resignation of Mrs. Clementine Metz Pagana had been presented to become effective on May 24. The vacancy will likely be filled at the regular June meeting, and A. J. Howell, a member of the rules and regulations committee, who will make a recommendation, said that all applications submitted would be considered.

The matter of securing property for a boro garage was discussed informally.

B. P. W. Club Has Social Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, May 21.—Members of the Business and Professional Women's club "cleaned house," and carried all of their white elephants to their social meeting in the Baptist church last evening.

Packages beautifully wrapped and cleverly decorated were auctioned for sale by Miss Ruth Smathers. Mrs. Lawrence Flinger and Mrs. Howell Williams. New York Mayor Named To Head Civilian Defense

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Roosevelt on Tuesday unfolded a vast civilian defense program, to be headed by Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, and designed to give every man and woman not in the military service an opportunity to actively contribute to the nation's defense.

The chief executive signed an order creating "the office of civilian defense" and announced that LaGuardia would arrive in Washington tomorrow to open it.

LaGuardia, he said, will continue to serve as mayor of New York. He will function as home defense chief without pay, as will other key figures in the set-up.

As finally arranged, the home defense program contemplates federal supervision and assistance to a group of regional headquarters built around the various state councils of national defense.

It is expected that nine regional offices will be established in conformity with the nine army corps areas.

AROUND CITY HALL

C. C. McKibben, city and school treasurer, today delved in figures. He first announced $13,000 was paid Tuesday to city employees for the first two weeks of this month. He then announced that he had filed with Lawrence County Commissioners, unpaid school taxes for 1940, amounting to $91,000. Last year at this time, $107,800 for unpaid 1939 taxes was filed. McKibben also stated he had filed with the city solicitor, unpaid 1940 city taxes amounting to $54,000. For the same period of 1939, he filed last year $64,000.

S. L. Lockley, city controller put the stamp of approval on reports submitted by Walter S. Hart who resigned May 15, as manager of the Sylvan Heights golf course. The report showed receipts of $940.05, consisting of greens fees of $343.05 and membership payments of $597.00.

C. C. Coulthard, manager of Cascade Park stated that Cascade Park would informally open the Saturday preceding Memorial day and formally, Memorial day. Shenango township officials have been requested for a sanction for B. J. Biondi, Rainbow terrace entrepreneur, to stage a night pyrotechnical display while dancing is under way in the Terrace.

JOBS HELP CUT RELIEF
Private employment accounted for the closing of 25 public assistance cases in Lawrence county during the week ending May 10. In that week 62 cases were closed, but the opening of 83 new cases left a net increase of 19 percent. The figure fluctuates from week to week.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE —

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas floats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 10¢ and 25¢.

There are many other fine books on child training and food that will be of interest to mothers. Many parents are making good use of these books. Ask for them at the public library.
